GOSPEL REFLECTION

Today's Readings present us with two aspects of the witnesses of the Resurrection. Mary of Magdala, Peter and John testify to the empty tomb. At the tomb, there was something that convinced them that the body of Jesus was not just gone, but that he was resurrected. It was the burial cloths. In the revival of Lazarus, we saw that strips of cloth were wrapped around the large burial cloth, making the body look like a mummy. The body of Jesus was gone, but the cloths had not been unwrapped. How else could the body of Jesus have been removed without unbinding the strips of cloth. Thus, the disciples saw and believed. But the empty tomb cannot be the only evidence of the resurrection. When Jesus appeared in the flesh to Mary, she did not recognize him. It is only when he calls her by name that she encounters the Risen One. Personally called by Christ, she believes. That's the core of resurrection faith. Jesus shows himself full of life to us when we ourselves are called by our own name. Then we hear the invitation that he makes to each one of us. That's when our faith grows. Our faith in the living Christ cannot be sustained only by the Easter accounts alone. We won't properly meet him if we don't seek a living, personal contact with the Risen Christ. A combination of the love of Jesus known through the Gospel and sought personally in the depths of our hearts, can best lead us to meet the Risen One.
