GOSPEL REFLECTION

The Prophet Amos is a champion of the poor. The idle rich are the target of his wrath, primarily because their conspicuous consumption is always at the expense of those who lack even the bare necessities. The lambs taken from the flock and calves from the stall upon which they feast are supposed to be set aside for sacrifice to the Lord; thus, they add sacrilege to their sins of gluttony and greed. This theme is picked up in the Gospel where the rich man's life was consumed in self-centred living. He has everything in this life that a person could want, and yet he does not have compassion for the poor or anyone else but himself. His values were based on gaining worldly possessions and wealth and enjoying them; thus in neglecting the poor man he also ignored God, for the rich man did not have a desire to serve God nor did he feel a need for God's guidance. He only felt a need to satisfy his own worldly desires and wants. The rich man knew Lazarus in real life (we know that because he knew his name in heaven), but he ignored him. Treatment of Lazarus on earth revealed the rich man's true relationship to God. Since the rich man only cared about himself and was not right with God; thus, after he died, he woke up in the absence of God or others, which makes this a place of torment.

St. Francis of Assisi: Sign of Contradiction

From 4PM Media and The Ministry of the Wild Goose comes a breathtaking film on the life of St. Francis of Assisi. A fool according to the standards of the world, St. Francis' life was a sign of contradiction, convicting others of the beauty of Christ and his Gospel.
